

ADDITIONAL GUIDANCE/ NOTES- JUNE 2019 400501

1. A descriptive topic. Focus is on the description of the invention and its importance. Accept unexpected interpretations of invention. [30]
2. A narrative topic. Candidates should successfully incorporate the elements of a short story such as characterisation, pace, atmosphere, suspense and a well-controlled plot structure. Look for and reward originality. Candidates should create original responses. Accounts should have a link with the given statement
 - (a) Focus is on the sense of achievement/ burden lifted/change of fortunes and a painful past relived. Accounts should display hope for a better future. [30]
 - (b) Focus is on the circumstances that made it inevitable for the priest to cancel the wedding. Both metaphorical and literal interpretations of the topic may be acceptable. [30]
3. A discursive topic. Candidates are expected to examine different reasons for splits in churches. Accept a non-committal middle-of-the-road approach, where one takes a neutral position. [30]
4. A descriptive and imaginative topic. Focus is on hopes and aspirations of one's life in ten years' time. [30]

N.B: Candidates are expected to write about their future not in retrospect.
5. An expository topic. Candidates are expected to look at the different ways that can be adopted to stop people from taking bribes such as:
 - maintaining law and order
 - awareness campaigns/educational programmes
 - exchange programmes with other communities
 - improving the standard of living[30]
6. An argumentative/discursive topic. Candidates may examine both sides of the topic, while some may take a firm position and argue strongly either for or against the assertion. [30]
7. An open ended topic. Candidates may write stories in which commitment is evident or they may define and illustrate what commitment is, i.e. write a factual essay on the topic. [30]

N.B: Candidates should not treat the topic as a name of a person.

8. Appropriateness of response is an important element in this type of question. Candidates' responses should demonstrate the following:

- amplification of notes
- variety of sentences constructed
- effective use of links so that the given points are neatly linked in paragraphs
- logical arrangement of ideas: this entails, in some cases, reorganisation of the points
- inclusion of candidates' own relevant material

Candidates must present answers in report format as follows:

(d) Vocabulary: 5 marks

Additional guidance/ Notes

1. Vocabulary questions test candidates' understanding, in particular, word meaning inferential skills.
2. Here, candidates are expected to use the context, that is, the situation in which the word or phrase is used and the other surrounding words, to work out the meaning of the word or phrases.
3. Even if the candidate is meeting the word for the first time, with proper practice and skill, he or she should be able to infer the meaning of word or phrase by closely examining the context in which it is used.
4. The answer one gets should suit the context of the word/ phrase being tested.

Rules to observe when working on vocabulary questions:

1. Attempt only five words. If candidates attempt more than five words, only the first five words are marked.
2. For each word attempted, only the first answer is marked when more than one answer is offered.
3. A comma, a stroke, or the word 'or' indicates a second attempt.
4. For two answers joined by 'and', one correct answer is allowed if the other answer is not wholly wrong but neutral, eg. 'grieved and hurt' for 'lamented'. Candidates are advised to always give one answer and not let examiners decide for them.
5. If candidates give answers in form of phrases, only the first seven words of the phrase are considered.
6. Do not use the negative 'not' for answers that come in the negative form eg for 'unceasing' it would be wrong to say not ending or not interrupted. For all such answers use appropriate prefixes such as un-, in-, dis- ir- etc.

Answers:

Word	Accept:	Mark	Give 0 for

QUESTION 3: 20 MARKS (15 + 5)Additional guidance/notes

- The summary question tests comprehension, in particular, selection skills.
- The key words in this question are: what the two families did, saw and felt. Candidates should keep these words in mind.
- Candidates should note that these two families went through the processes separately and at different stages in the narrative.
- Some of the processes only involved individual members of the families. It should be clear what each member did, saw or felt alone and what he or she did together with members of his or her family eg
 - I thought we were going to die there
 - We yelled to tell them we were still inside
- Some points in the passage are mere descriptions of the atmosphere e.g.
 - It was very hot and stuffy

- b) The shelter heaved up and down.
 6. It is implied that the family members felt or saw since they were in that shelter.
 Candidates should therefore present the members as active participants;
 They felt hot and stuffy
 They saw/felt the shelter heaving up and down
 Pronouns such as he, she and/ or they should clearly refer to the correct agents

THE SUMMARY IS MARKED TO A MAXIMUM OF 15 OUT OF 28 POINTS. EACH POINT SCORES 1 MARK.

THE MECHANICAL ACCURACY MARK IS ALLOCATED TO A MAXIMUM OF 5
 $(10 \times \frac{1}{2})$

See Note 5 below, 'Standard Deductions'.

NOTES

- Points to be rewarded and their marks are indicated below.
- Introductory Words
 Candidates are advised to always start their summary with the provided introductory words and naturally these introductory words introduce the first point.
- Length
 Examiners highlight where the introductory words end, or should end. They then count to 150, the number of words used by the candidate after the tenth word and write down this number. Examiners DO NOT use the candidate's word-total without checking it. They STOP at 150 and highlight where the marking should end.
NB: Hyphenated words are counted as one but if you decide to separate them and omit the hyphen they are counted as two separate words.
- Marking Technique
 Scoring for points is indicated by a tick.

STANDARD DEDUCTIONS

$\frac{1}{2}$ mark is deducted for each error listed, up to ten errors.

If you write fewer words in your summary, you risk losing the marks for mechanical accuracy before any error is identified.

The following maxima for the Mechanical Accuracy mark is applied:
 0–25 words (0); 26–50 words (1); 51–75 words (2); 76–100 words (3);
 101–125 words (4); 126–150 words (5).

- A. Candidates are penalised every time, $-\frac{1}{2}$ mark for the following:

- i all spelling errors – but only once for each mis-spelt word
- ii all apostrophe errors, except error in the same word.
- iii use of small letter for capital (every time): use of capital for small letter (once only).
- iv all omissions of a word or words, even slips = I saw big bull.
- v wrong or superfluous prepositions = wrong prep = I live at Bulawayo. superfluous prep = He could not cope up with the work.

- vi use of wrong word for context (e.g. who for which) = The boys (which) were making noise.
- vii comma for full stop or semi-colon (or vice-versa) – She ran into the room, she saw a snake on the table.
- viii single comma at the beginning or end of a phrase or clause where there should be a pair = These men Lester and Frank, deserve praise.
- ix wrongly completed parenthesis, e.g. a dash at the beginning and a comma at the end or when a second bracket is omitted = The men – Lester and Frank, deserve praise.
- x omission of a comma after an initial adverb or adverb clause (e.g. However) = However I believe the man is honest. Unfortunately for the boys they were seen by the teacher.
- xi omission of comma(s) before participial phrase = My little brother being afraid of dogs started howling (only where meaning is distorted).
- xii omission of comma between adjectives = The evening fog had settled in heavy penetrating enveloping.
- xiii use of comma between subject and verb or between verb and object = The angry young man, stood up to denounce society. He provoked, the bull.
- xiv faulty sequence of tenses in the same sentence. He arrived home early but does not see his wife.
- xv false concord every time. = Mary (go) to see her mother every week.
- xvi complete breakdown = The elephant was darted nimbly charged flee.
- xvii absence of colon before list – Bring the following items pen, ruler and rubber.
- xviii word division e.g. in order, a lot, can not.
- xix omission or wrong use of quotation marks in direct speech.

B Candidates are NOT penalised for:

- i misuse of shall, will, should, could = I will explain later for I shall explain later.
- ii omission of hyphen = He is a hardworking boy.
- iii omission of full stop (a) in abbreviations (b) at the end of a sentence if capital letter follows (c) at the end of a paragraph, an answer, or part answer.
- iv omission of comma before 'so' = I had seen him so he was obliged to stop.
- v omission of comma after participial phrases if meaning is clear = Walking down the road I saw a snake.
- vi omission of comma separating a list of adjectives = I saw an old red brick wall.
If ambiguity arises, candidates are penalised as in xii above (A).
- vii omission of two parenthetical commas, including those for non-defining clauses = James the soccer star of the year got married yesterday. The Ozie satisfied that the harness was secure urged the elephant on.
- viii misrelated participles = Listening, closely, no sound was heard.
- ix faulty sequence of tense where conditionals and subjunctives are concerned = I wish Jane were here. If it rains we will be cold.

If candidate uses note-form throughout the answer, there are no marks for Mechanical Accuracy, but can score for points where they are clearly made.

Wildly out of sequence points do not score so candidates should follow the sequence of events in the passage.

N.B: A candidate will be penalised once for any inconsistency in the use of personal pronouns e.g. shift from 'he' to 'I' or vice versa.

ADDITIONAL MARK SCHEME NOTES - NOVEMBER 2019 4005/01

- 1 A descriptive topic. Focus is on the positive attributes of the person's life that have inspired the writer. While more than one character may be involved in the plot the one who is inspirational must stand out clearly. Focus should be on description and not mere narration of what the character did. [30]
- 2 Reward candidates who successfully incorporate the elements of a short story such as characterisation, pace, atmosphere, suspense and a well-controlled plot structure. Look for and reward originality. Some candidates may fail to produce accounts that have a link with the given statement. The given statement should not just be forced into the narrative.
- (a) Focus is on her sacrifice/selflessness and how everyone showed their gratitude. The key words are 'thanked' and 'sacrifice' [30]
- (b) Focus is on the sense of shock and disbelief after losing money as a result of having made a wrong decision. Take note that the expression is idiomatic though the literal sense may be acceptable. [30]
- 3 A factual/expository topic. Focus is on the efforts by the youths to reduce the spread of diseases. Candidates should produce compositions with correct facts as evidence of wide readership on the subject/topic. [30]
- 4 A discursive/argumentative topic. Candidates should bring out the relationship between character and friendship. Candidates should be able to examine other factors, apart from friendship, that affect character in the discussion/argument. [30]
- 5 A descriptive/narrative topic. Candidates should show how the fire disrupted community life. Metaphorical interpretations of 'fire' are acceptable. Focus is on the disruptions/disturbances caused by the fire and not events leading to the fire. [30]

- 6 A discursive topic. Candidates are expected to explore the advantages and disadvantages of having exclusive special schools and be able to take a position/stance.

[30]

- 7 An open ended topic. Candidates may write stories in which heroism is the central theme. They may define and illustrate what heroes are, i.e. write a factual essay on the topic. Varied interpretations of heroism or heroes are acceptable.

Note: Do not take Heroes as a name of a character

[30]

- 8 Candidates are expected to compose logical and appropriate letters that are consistent with the suggested ideas. Candidates should observe the following:

- informal letter format
- amplification
- arrangement of ideas
- use of appropriate register
- variety of sentences constructed
- inclusion of candidate's own relevant material

N.B. 1 mark is given for correct informal letter format/layout.

3 Summary points

Additional guidance/Notes

1. The key words in the question are: actions, reactions, emotions and decisions.
2. While the narrative is given in the first person 'I', the summary answer is to be presented in the third person singular 'he'.
3. This summary question requires candidates to follow and maintain the sequential order of events in the passage. Points that are wildly out of sequence do not score.
4. Where adverbs are included in an action, candidates must include them in the points to show how the actions were done eg 'he fitted an arrow silently onto his bow'/'he was desperately casting about for some way of provoking a charge'.
5. If an action is repeated in a sequence the candidates should use words which show repetition such as: again, once more, for the second etc eg 'he let fly an arrow...' and 'he shot again.
